

I am concerned with the expansion of LPFM stations. My family listen to K-LOVE the majority of the the time. We feel that this station provides positive music and information that we as parents don't need to screen. Since we rely on a translator station to hear it,we are concerned over the posiblity of losing this source of entertainment for our rural area. Another Christian music station has sold in our area, so it is vital that we maintain access to K-LOVE. In addition, K-LOVE has a music format that my kids enjoy much more than that of the alternative Christian station being sold.
